

TRouble BREWIN' FOR NAVY'S BEAR

Bruinsky, Mascot of the Cruiser Chicago, Assigned to Shore Duty After Six Months of Strenuous Life at Sea.

NO OTHER SHIP WANTS HIM!

From the Time He Shipped at Kronstadt for Two Years as an Able Seaman He Has Made Nothing but Trouble.

Bruinsky Chicagovitch is his name, and he's as fine a looking Russian bear as has ever had the rating of A. B. in Uncle Sam's navy, but just at present he is having considerable difficulty in getting a ship. Most of the vessels at Brooklyn yard are out of commission or have their complement, and it may be that he will have to go to Boston to find a craft on which to finish his tour of duty. He has still eighteen months to go.

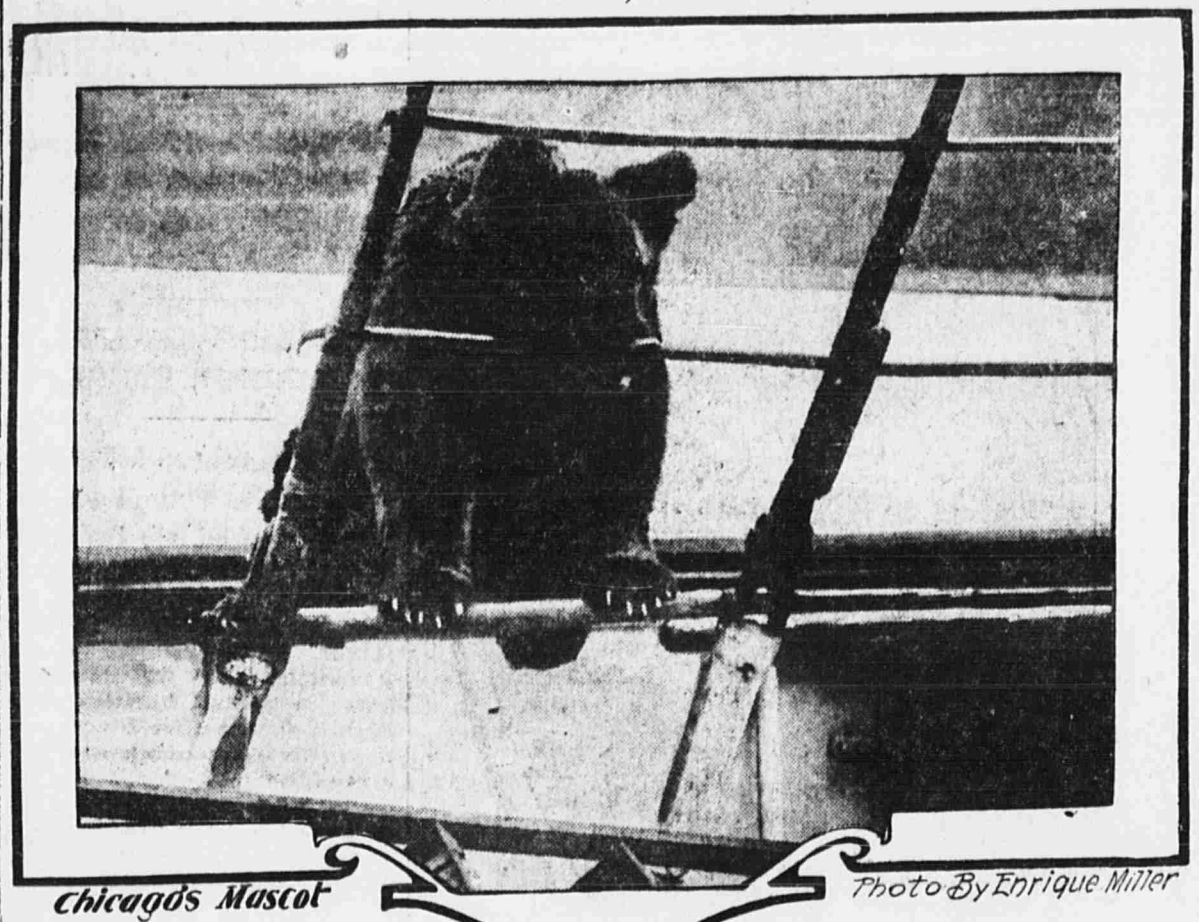

Bruinsky signed on the cruiser Chicago at Kronstadt nearly two years ago. He was just a little ball of brown fur. It was during the birthday celebration of Czar Nicholas, and the old ship of the famous squadron of evolution was there to felicitate with the ruler of all the Russias on the fact that he was still alive, and that it was Brother Jomathan's hope that he would be permitted by his subjects to live a while longer.

How Bruinsky Was Discovered. Under such circumstances it would be supposed that an American would have had some regard for international proprieties, but no! There was an Irishman, a very odd one, in the Chicago's crew, and one night on liberty he fell in with Bruinsky. This son of the Emerald Isle revealed to the bear what a glorious country America was and that there was nothing in all the world like the glories of its citizenship. On the occasion of this conversation everything was glorious. Bruinsky, being very young, listened to this Irish sailor who called himself an American. He had no morning to sign aboard the Chicago. He had only one name—Bruinsky—but it was explained that this was something came after it, so he agreed to adopt the cognomen of Chicago. Bruinsky's national diet of black bread and fish was soon changed to one of pie and nuts and fruit and cake and meat and tidbits from the ward-room table, and he thought that the bear, indeed, reached Nirvana. Then he began to do stunts to show his appreciation. He used to run foot races up and down the deck and spar with any one who would come along.

An International Incident. Coming home Bruinsky furnished the setting for an international incident that would have assumed serious proportions had it not been for the adoption of his Yankee ship. He had forgotten all allegiance to anything, but it was the old story of the leopard's spots. A Jap steward, who had kept out of Bruinsky's way for over a month, ran across the ship and the Jap was seen making for the main rigging, with the bear after him. The Russian in him had to come out. They put Bruinsky in the pair of pajamas until the sailor could make him a new pair of trousers. Bruinsky, after seeing the Jap go aloft that day, tried to himself as soon as he was out of hook, and one of his daily stunts became the ascension of either the fore or main rigging. He would never go as far as the top, but the distance he did cover was done seaward. He went up like a real jockey and came down like one.

During the warm weather when the ship was in port with her gangways over side, Chicagovitch used to amuse himself by going down to the lower landing and, while holding on carefully with one paw, would himself around in the cool water. This pastime became so casual until a specific time was appointed ed by the commander when Bruinsky should have his bath.

The Chicago is home to go out of commission, and no one at the Brooklyn yard is willing to assume the responsibility of a bear who walks around like a man and who can handle his fist like a heavy bouncer. The cruiser will be towed to Boston probably to-morrow, and unless some ship agrees to sign him on before then he will go with her to the Charlestown yard.

The Jap who felt his Russian paw said to-day that bear stunts made very good eating for Thanksgiving and Xmas.

"Send him to a show," suggested a seaman.

"No, no," said the Jap, "him too fresh already. No good keep Russian; kill him more better."

NO DOGS ON "L" TRAINS.

Magistrate Crane Reprimands Men for Trying to Force Issue.

Harris C. Swan, of No. 128 West One Hundred and Thirty-seventh street, and Lee Phillips, of No. 140 West Seneca street, were before Magistrate Crane, in the Harlem Court, to-day charged with disorderly conduct. The complainant was George I. Titus, an employee of the "L."

The men, according to Titus, attempted to board a train on the Eighth Avenue "L" last night. Swan had a fox terrier with him and the guard prevented his getting on. Phillips received a blackened eye and other marks of trouble.

Magistrate Crane thought that the two prisoners had received enough punishment and discharged them with a reprimand.

TRAIN KILLED BICYCLIST.

Engine Hidden from View Ran Him Down as He Crossed Tracks.

FREEDHOLD, N. J., Nov. 24.—Wesley Stoney, fifty-five years old, a carpenter, was struck by a train and killed while riding over the Bowne avenue crossing on a bicycle. A west-bound train, which was standing on a siding, cut off from view the east-bound by which he was hit. One of his arms and one leg were broken and his head crushed. He leaves a widow and several children.

HUSBAND AND WIFE BURNED.

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich., Nov. 24.—Mr. and Mrs. George Smith, sixty years old, were burned to death early to-day in a fire which entirely consumed their home. The couple lived alone outside of the city limits. The fire was discovered by neighbors, but before any help could be rendered the old people the building collapsed.

KINGSLEY STILL ABSENT; NEW CLUE

Discovery Made that Missing Man Was Seen in New York Last Monday Week—Friends Believe in Foul Play Theory.

Another lead to the possible discovery of Henry Baxter Kingsley, the young man who disappeared from New York more than a week ago, has been abandoned. Conductor Harley Carpenter, who is so certain that the young man was on the train en route to his father's home in Rutland, Vt., must have been mistaken. It having been learned to-day that Kingsley was in New York on Nov. 16.

So positive was Carpenter when he was shown a picture of Kingsley that the detectives in search of the missing man determined that he had left New York and that search here was useless. Now they are inclined to believe that he never left New York.

Mayor L. G. Kingsley yesterday received a package of samples from a hat company in New York. The package was addressed to his son. He at once communicated with the hat company. Word was sent back that Kingsley was there a week ago on Monday and ordered the samples sent to his home.

The young man's relatives in this city are now of the opinion that he met with foul play. They believe the police would have found him before now had he wandered away in a fit of temporary mental aberration. Besides he was in perfect health and apparently jovial spirit when last seen.

IRISH WANT O'BRIEN TO STAY.

DUBLIN, Nov. 24.—At a meeting of the Irish Parliamentary Party here to-day, at which John Redmond presided, a vote of cordial confidence in Mr. Redmond was unanimously adopted, as was a resolution, proposed by Mr. Redmond, asking that William O'Brien withdraw his resignation as Member of Parliament for Cork City.

JUSTICE BOLTE ILL AT HOME.

Attacked by Heart Failure and Under Care of Nurse.

Justice Bolte was attacked by heart failure last night at his home, No. 3 New Chambers street, and is under the care of a trained nurse.

The hearing before W. H. Willis, as referee of the charges preferred against him, set for to-day were adjourned until Saturday.

Maurice B. Blumenthal, Justice Bolte's counsel, said he doubted if his client would be able to attend on that date, but he consented to the tentative fixing of the day for the continuance of the hearing.

MAY NAME BISHOP MESSMER.

ROME, Nov. 24.—The report that the Congregation of the Propaganda has decided to propose to the Pope the appointment of Bishop Messmer, of Green Bay, Wis., as Archbishop of Milwaukee, in succession to the late Archbishop Katzer, is confirmed.

LOST THEIR SHIP IN ANTARCTIC ICE

Explorers Were Forced to Take to the Floes When Vessel Was Crushed in Far South Last February.

Party Is Rescued by Argentine Gunboat After Spending Winter Sub-living Largely on Seals—Mission Is Practically a Failure.

BUENOS AYRES, Argentina, Nov. 24.—Despatches have been received here from Lieut. Jose Sobral, of the Argentine Navy, who accompanied the Nordenskjöld Antarctic expedition, detailing the loss of the Antartico and the work of the expedition.

Lieut. Sobral has telegraphed from Santa Cruz and says the Argentine gunboat Uruguay has left Santa Cruz for Buenos Ayres with the twenty-eight members of the expedition on board.

The Antartico attempted to penetrate the sea to the east of Joinville Island, but encountered heavy ice floes and was finally crushed in the ice and sunk in the Gulf of Erebus and Terror. The ship was sunk on Feb. 3 of this year.

Capt. Larsen and all the members of the expedition made their escape and managed to save a great portion of the provisions before the Antartico finally sank. They spent the winter on Paulet Island, enduring many hardships, subsisting for the most part on seals.

During the winter explorations were made and the fossil remains of many extinct animals were collected. The Uruguay reached the island Nov. 18 and found Larsen and his men in good condition.

The Antartico had successfully weathered the storms of the far North and was selected on this account by the Nordenskjöld party.

The English expedition, under Commander Scott and Dr. Wilson, on board the Discovery, is still in the Antarctic seas, and is expected to have accomplished the most of the three expeditions that were sent out by England, Sweden and Germany late in 1901. The Discovery is locked fast in the ice, but it is hoped it will be released within the next sixty days, during which time the Antarctic summer season will set in.
